

Knowledge Infrastructure in the Platform Economy

kipeconf.uni-nke.hu

21 APRIL 2022

an online event organized by the Institute of the Information Society, University of Public Service

International workshop on machine learning, artificial intelligence and new technologies in the platform economy

Guest-speakers:

- Hojjat Adeli (Ohio State University): Machine Learning: A key Ubiquitous Technology in the 21st Century
- Joao Gama (University of Porto): Analysis of Evolving Social Networks
- Timon Rabczuk (The Institute of Structural Mechanics, Bauhaus University): Machine Learning Potentials Addressing the Wider Areas of Simulation-based Engineering Science and Skills
- Amir Gandomi (Faculty of Engineering & Information Technology, University of Technology): Evolutionary Learning & Optimization: Towards Fully Automated Systems
- Anthony Theodore Chronopoulos (Texas University)
- Amir Mosavi (University of Public Service): Ethical Guidelines for Responsible Artificial Intelligence in the Platform Economy
- Lovleen Chadha (NOKIA): AI – Aware – Employee: the Nokia Case
- Dezső Karasszon – Csaba Szabó (DataExpert Services Kft.): A Data-Driven Way of Thinking: in the Perspective of Transparency
- Péter Abszinger (Deutsche Telekom IT Solutions): Digital footprints in the world of AI and the Risks of Personal Data
- Tuomo Alasoini (Finnish Institute of Occupational Health): Digital Media User Groups among Employees: Evidence from Finland
- Laura Seppanen (Finnish Institute of Occupational Health): Co-Creation in Macrotask Knowledge Work on Labor Platforms
- Branka Andjelkovic – Tanja Jakobi (Public Policy Research Centre) Naked at Home: How Teleworking Open Doors for Omnipresence of Employers in Workers' Lives
- Éva Farkas (Go-Ahead Group) – Csaba Makó (University of Public Service) József Pap (Széchenyi University) – Miklós Illéssy (Centre for Social Sciences): Designing Digital Platforms: The Roles of Architects and Technologists: a Systematic Literature Review

UNIVERSITY
OF PUBLIC
SERVICE
LUDOVIKÁ

Online participation is subject to registration.
Please visit <http://kipeconf.uni-nke.hu> for registration and further information.

